

Psychic Medium and Life Healer, Valentina, and host of the brand new Amazon Prime TV show “Share Your Scare”.

Valentina’s gifts and unique personality has helped thousands of people with either their own lives or connecting with loved ones on the other Side.

Valentina was born in “the world’s happiest country” of Denmark to parents which were doctors. She went on to be educated in the beautiful alps of Switzerland for elementary school and later moved to the most northern point in Alaska living among Eskimos and finishing out her school years.

At age nineteen, Valentina moved to Santa Cruz, California on her own to pursue a modeling career that had actually started back home at the age of two.

In her early twenty’s Valentina suffered a traumatic brain injury that left her nearly comatose and close to dying. That was the beginning of her discovering her unique psychic gifts.

Eventually working her way to Los Angeles and a becoming a top model in L.A showing up all over the screens in “Fresh Prince of Bel Air”, “In Living Color”, “Night at The Roxbury”, “Dumb and Dumber” and many more, including over 30 music videos for MTV, VH-1 and BET. Not too mention calendars, billboards and magazine covers. Valentina was unstoppable.

It wasn't until February 2015, when Valentina's world came crashing down as she unexpectedly lost both of her parents within two weeks of each other. That started her obsession with wanting to communicate with her mother on the other side. She felt the best way to deal with the unimaginable pain of the loss was by helping others understand what happens when we "die" and by communicating to their loved ones.

With thousands of clients worldwide in just a few short years, Valentina's gifts are needed in everything from missing persons and cold cases, teen guidance, contacting loved ones on the other side, psychic parties, working with corporations, healing people's energies and addictions, helping people Awaken spiritually, blessing people's homes.

Her gifts go beyond the typical psychic, she actually changes and heals people making them able to continue their lives in a much more productive and high vibrational way.
